LD Resource Fair

PARENTS AND PROFESSIONALS — REGISTER NOW!

Saturday, November 6, 2010 | 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. | Register: www.etonacademy.org

What

Eton Academy, currently celebrating 25 years of educating different learners, regularly conducts well-attended presentations for teachers, families and community groups. The LD (Learning Differences) Resource Fair will provide families of different learners with an easy way to learn about the various resources available to their children.

The FREE event will be held at the Eton Academy campus in Birmingham. The event is open to the public and will be widely promoted throughout Southeast Michigan.

Who Should Attend

Parents and interested family members of children with ADHD, dyslexia, dysgraphia and other information processing learning challenges.

Individuals, businesses and organizations with services related to the support of children with learning differences can participate as an exhibitor and/or sponsor. Classrooms are available for private consultations.

Event Format

The Resource Fair is designed to provide parents with convenient access to service providers in an informal setting. There will be exhibits set up in the auditorium, presentations by Eton teachers and other professionals, as well as an opportunity to have a private consultation in a classroom. A Resource Guide of participating organizations will be available to all attendees.

Registration

Parents: To help ensure the event runs smoothly, please register online at www.etonacademy.org or call Shelia English at 248-642-1150 or email: senglish@etonacademy.org.

The first 25 registered attendees will receive a gift at the event.

Professionals: Please visit the Eton Academy web site for more information and to download the exhibitor/sponsor commitment forms.

Eton Academy is a nationally awarded school educating students in grades 1-12 with learning challenges such as dyslexia, dysgraphia and ADHD. Our compassionate teachers specialize in LD instruction, delivering a research-based curriculum in a small class setting of 10 or fewer students. More than just a school, Eton is a community of supporters helping families navigate the world of learning differences. To learn more about Eton Academy, call 248-642-1150 or visit: www.etonacademy.org.
